Bantam and Lightweight Champs of Mat Will Wrestle Here on July 2

GEORGE ROTHNER, LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION GRAPPLER.

George Rothner, champion lightweight wrestler, arrived here last night from Hartford, Conn., to meet Young Hackworth, holder of the bantamweight championship, the night of July 2. The match will take place under the auspices of the Moose lodge.

Rothner and Young Hack have met once previously. At that time they struggled for 3 hours and 45 minutes without either getting a fall. They began the match Saturday night. The promoters stepped in and ordered them to stop when Sunday morning came.

Rothner will begin training tonight at the Moose club gymnasium. He weighs 132 pounds now and will reduce to 125. He is in his best condition at that mark. Rothner is looking for training partners. He wants one from 150 pounds up. Rothner will train every night at 7:30 o'clock. Hack trains at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Young Patsy Kline and Young Joe Rivera, who will meet in a professional boxing bout, also are training. Al Spaulding and Harry Wallace, light heavyweights, who will meet in the semi-final, are working out also at the club.

Young Hack, who is an Englishman, received word yesterday that his brother, John, 19 years old, had been decorated with the Victoria Cross. John was in the stoke room of a patrol boat which was lying in Hartlepool harbor at the time of the German raid. A high explosive shell killed the petty officer in charge of the stoke room.

The Gordon Garage car, driven by William Mattox, won the first prize of $500 easily. Consistent driving was what won for Mattox. He drew No. 1 and got the inside position. He got off in the lead and held it for six laps, dropped to the second place in the seventh and to third in the eighth. From the tenth to the twenty-ninth he was in second place, to thirty-sixth in third, to forty-ninth in second and in the fiftieth he again took the lead. He did not have the fastest car by any means, but he drove steadily and had the least trouble of the four. He was several laps behind the other cars, but they had considerable tire trouble and during that time he gained nine laps. He made his first stop in the eighty-fourth lap when he stopped for oil and water and looked his machine over a minute.

A Hupmobile owned by T. C. Harrington, driven by William Bryant with Jess Windfry machinist, was car No. 2. It collided with the Holbrook car in the forty-first and retired from the race with a broken rear wheel.

Car No. 3, entered by Walter McLure of Holbrook, was driven by himself with Joe Waldhouse of Flagstaff, Ariz., machinist. Jack Cotton's car was fourth in the row. It was driven by Ted Richards with Sam Hosler machinist.

The sensational finish of the Holbrook car and the Cotton car was the feature of the day. The Holbrook car won by about a length, both cars going at a fifty-mile clip. The Cotton car gained a lap in the last ten miles, and came within a fraction of a second of winning.

Richards stopped for water in the twenty-ninth. McLure and Richards both lost a tire in the forty-ninth. Jack Cotton car died on the first eighth, and it was pushed around the three-eighths by the mechanic. At the same time the Holbrook car took a flat tire. The Holbrook car started on the last thirty laps of the race two laps ahead of the Cotton car. The Holbrook car was not working at its best and it lost two laps. The last ten laps were made in daredevil fashion. Richards, driving the Cotton car, took the applause of the grand stand by the sensational driving at the end of the race.

Alfred Grunsfeld, chairman of the county commissioners, is in Denver, having departed last Thursday night for a trip through the east. From Denver he will go to Chicago, New York and Boston to purchase goods for Grunsfeld Brothers.
